

JURY TOOK FATE OF FRANK SKELLY INTO ITS HANDS AT 2:40 O'CLOCK AFFECTING SCENE WAS HYSTERICAL SOBBING OF ACCUSED MAN'S MOTHER

Attorney Clydr Bishop Brings Tears to Eyes of Many of His Hearers in Eloquence for Defendant

At 2:40 the verdict of not guilty was brought in.

At 2:40 o'clock this afternoon the jury that had heard the evidence in the trial of Frank F. Skelly, charged with the murder of his wife, Ethel Skelly, on May 6, was locked up. At 3:25 o'clock no verdict had been rendered.

Before the twelve men were sent into the room, the alternate jury, O. T. Moore of Orange, was discharged. No more affecting scene ever took place in the courtroom of this county than that this morning when the aged mother of Frank Skelly cried aloud in the arms of her son charged with the murder of his wife.

There were tears in the eyes of the jurors, and in the eyes of many of those who heard Attorney Clyde Bishop's eloquent, able appeal in Skelly's defense. No more stirring address was ever made to a jury by Bishop than that delivered by him this morning. It was a unusually brilliant and telling address.

Skelly sat where he had sat during most of the trial, just inside the rail beside his mother, Mrs. Jennie Bradley, dressed plainly in black.

When the attorney pleaded that the man, whom the defense believed wrongly accused, be spared from the hangman's noose to bring up his two little children to womanhood and manhood and to care for and cherish his poor old mother in her declining years, Mrs. Bradley, who wept most of the hour and twenty-five minutes taken by the attorney for his plea, sobbed aloud. Skelly's face worked with emotion. His arms were about his mother, as she cried hysterically. Bishop paused in his talk, walked to the couple and whispered a few words to them, and the then continued with his argument.

When he had finished, Mrs. Bradley, weak and tottering, was led from the courtroom to compose herself. She returned and during the address of the district attorney sat calmly between her sons.

District Attorney Davis completed his closing argument shortly after noon. Judge West read his instructions and the case went to the jury.

In closing yesterday, Attorney Fleming for the prosecution said: "When Skelly told you that probably when the words 'I didn't know it was gasoline' were spoken he referred to not knowing with what she was afire, he certainly sought to delude you. And his explanation of 'I dropped it' was so flimsy it is not worth considering."

"And the defense did not get witnesses from Westminster to prove that Mrs. Skelly filled the tank with a glass jar. They brought here Mrs. Aldrich of Long Beach and Mrs. Flowers of Santa Ana."

"Do you believe that the women and men of the stamp of Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Hare and Mr. Cavanaugh would pervert the truth. Contrast their testimony to the attitude of young Frost, that distinguished young man. (Slight laughter.)"

"As to Mrs. Grant, I believe her to be a lady. She heard a denial, but it was a mighty feeble one and he made it only once."

"They made a great talk about the ceiling over the stove. Bishop magnified those blisters. Mr. Aldrich was there very alert on May 7. I wonder why? I wonder what passed between him and Skelly that caused him to so closely inspect that kitchen then? Mrs. Skelly was not yet dead. Take a stove and use it in one place for a long period and that condition would be produced."

"Isn't it strange in that conflagration if it happened as the defense says—an ignition of vaporized gasoline—that those marks of gasoline are on the wall?"

"There is the man (pointing to Skelly) who knows how that gasoline got there. He had met her coming from her room. He looked for his vest and as he returned he heard that scream. In that time how could she have filled that jar, how could sufficient vaporization have occurred in that time."

"In the light of those declarations and his conduct he will stand guilty before the world and every fair-minded man. Why didn't he reply to those accusations? Because of his guilty heart. He said it wasn't necessary. Tell me that any innocent man who should be thus accused by his loved one would do otherwise than deny."

Williams Talks
R. Y. Williams said: "Attorney Fleming is one of the best criminal prosecutors in California, and you can count on it that he dresses up his side with as good clothing as it will bear."

"It appears that Skelly carried $18,000 life insurance. Generally we consider it a good act for a man to carry insurance for his family's benefit. The policies on Mrs. Skelly's life were taken out years before this occurrence. Had they been taken out a few days before it might have looked suspicious. They say Skelly wanted to burn his house. What? With his babies in bed and a man upstairs? Such a motive is preposterous, ridiculous."

"Then they took another tack for motive, and all they have is Witness Wallace saying he heard loud, angry" (Concluded on Page Five)

APRICOT CROP FAILURE IN MIDDLE WEST STATES

Dr. J. G. Bernicke some time ago wrote to the Department of Agriculture relating to the apricot crop in California, and has received an answer to his inquiries on the shape of a letter from Victor H. Olmstead which under Washington date of July 26 follows:

"Referring to your letter of July 18, addressed to the Secretary of Agriculture, in regard to a report on the apricot crop in California, I beg to advise you that the United States government does not through its crop-reporting bureau issue any reports relating to apricots. I inclose herewith the July Crop Reporter, which contains a complete crop report as issued within the past month. Peaches, however, are reported upon, which crop in California, you will note, is estimated on July 1 as 87 per cent of a normal condition. I have no knowledge of the report upon apricots to which you refer in your letter as purporting to be a government report."

City Marshal Edwards testified that Richards was going twenty-five miles an hour or faster when he saw him. Richards testified that he was going an inch over twelve and a half miles an hour. The city Recorder found him guilty, and assessed him $5.

SACRAMENTO GAINS 15,414 IN TEN YEARS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The census bureau announces the population of Sacramento as 44,696, which is an increase of 15,414 over the 1900 census.

Iowa practically a total failure of the apple, peach and pear crop. Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas a little better. In general the northern central states east and west of the Mississippi have one-half crops. New York state, a great producer of evaporated apples falls considerably short on apples, peaches and pears. Good crops are reported from states which are not large producers. The most populous states and largest producers are short.

From Great Britain: "The fruit season according to a recent report of the United States consul general at London, is likely to be one of the worst of recent years; cherries, pears, and plums have been seriously attacked by frost, and apples promise only a fair crop."

Buyers say that this week the price which temporarily was dropped to 9½ cents will go back to 10 cents. The association movement will bring about $40,000 more to the apricot growers of Orange county this year than would have been the case without it.

Christian Endeavor societies have unanimously voted to write Alice asking her to quit smoking.

Senator Crane Meets Secre-

PRESIDENT TAFT SAID

Reported That Ballinger Has Been Asked to Step Down and Out by Oct. 1

BEVERLY, Mass.—It was learned on the highest authority today that Senator Crane of Massachusetts, acting on the initiative of certain Republican leaders, conferred with Secretary of the Interior Ballinger at St. Paul yesterday, suggesting that Ballinger resign his portfolio before October 1.

It is believed that President Taft acquiesced in Senator Crane's suggestion.

Resignation Wanted Soon
BEVERLY, Aug. 2.—The intimation of Secretary Ballinger's possible resignation is believed to be the explanation for the "accidental" meeting of Crane and Ballinger. Officially it was supposed Crane was going westward "on a mission" and it is believed pressure was brought on the president to hint to Ballinger that his resignation was necessary. Senator Crane is supposed to have told Ballinger to resign immediately after the congressional committee reports.

Strength Daily

X LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 2.—Hiram Johnson will go out of Southern California with a clear plurality of 10,000 votes over Charles F. Curry, his most formidable rival below the Tehachapi for the Republican nomination for governor—this despite the centering of the "stalwart" vote upon Curry, which the Southern Pacific machine is attempting to bring about.

Anderson's campaign has fallen flat in the Southern end of the state. Machine politicians are no longer concealing their intention of deserting him and lining up behind Curry, in the hope of defeating Johnson at any cost. The Anderson headquarters are almost deserted, while all is life and bustle in the Curry camp, with railroad workers marching up singly and in pairs to offer allegiance and receive orders.

"Anything to beat Johnson" is the machine slogan and the primary struggle has settled down to a duel.

GOV. GILLETT SAYS VAN LIEW IS TO GO

Calls on Chico Normal Trustees to Either Resign or

SAYS HIS REPUTATION
HAS BEEN BAD FOR YEARS

Declares His Retention Will Injure School and Affect Its Future

SACRAMENTO.—Gov. Gillett today sent a letter to the trustees of the Chico Normal School, calling practically on them to either remove President Van Liew or resign. He said: "I must confess I was quite surprised at the conclusion reached by the majority of the trustees. I firmly believe the board's decision regarding President Van Liew will injure the Normal School's standing, and seriously affect its future. For years I understand there have been ugly rumors concerning Van Liew's conducting of the school and his own moral standing. I understand today that the rumors are state wide. My attention was first called to these rumors after Miss Clark had preferred charges. After that many complaints were made concerning Van Liew's condition."

"Last May President Jordon of Standard University in writing to a public officer of this state said:

"It is a matter of common repute that the president of one of our state normal schools drinks whisky more than moderately. So far as I am concerned I have no direct evidence but I know the school's reputation is being harmed by the retention of this man."

"Of course it was left to the board to pass on the veracity of Miss Clark and Van Liew, but notwithstanding the board's decision I believe the great majority of Californians accept Miss Clark's statement. She had nothing to gain in doing what she did. The trustee's decision serves notice on all young girls attending Normal Schools that no matter what advances or proposals made them they must remain silent, making no complaint. If any members of the board of trustees of any Normal school in California feels his friendship for the principal superior to the interests and welfare of the school, he should resign the office so that another trustee, differently situated should be appointed. I trust the trustees will take such action as are for the best interests of the school, restoring necessary confidence."

TO PROHIBIT MOVING PICTURES SHOWING MURDER, BURGLARY, HOLD-UP OR PRIZE FIGHT

City Trustees Decline To Close Pool-rooms on Sunday—Again Take Up Gutters on South Main

Moving picture houses are to be prohibited showing in Santa Ana any pictures portraying murder, burglary, hold-up or prize-fighting. The City trustees last night passed an order instructing the city attorney to draw up an ordinance. By a vote of four to one the trustees refused to order the poolrooms closed on Sundays. Trustees Blodgett and McNaught voted against closing on the ground that it would only drive the patrons to other places and more wide-open towns. Trustees McFadden and Thompson on the ground that no one amusement should be thus signed out for Sunday closing. Rev. Seecombe and a delegation of twenty or thirty from the young people societies of the different churches was present.

The resolution of the Young People's societies of the city against the showing of Johnson-Jeffries pictures here and against the keeping open of poolrooms and moving picture shows on Sundays was read by the city clerk. This resolution was published in full a few days ago. It was signed by thirty-six from the Christian church C. E., seventeen from the First Baptist, twenty-two from the M. E. South, eleven from First M. E., twenty-four from United Presbyterian, thirty-three from First Presbyterian and nineteen from the Congregational. City Attorney Heathman stated that the board has the legal power to close up poolrooms and moving picture shows on Sundays. A decision of the appellate court divides all businesses into useful and non-useful businesses. The poolrooms and moving picture shows are in the same category, that is they are not necessary.

Trustee Harris said he favored prohibiting all prizefight pictures as brutal and demoralizing.

"Neither establishments here now would show them," said Blodgett.

Harris said he favored closing the poolrooms on Sundays as they attract noisy crowds. As to the shows, he thought it possible to give shows that would not be objectionable on Sundays.

"I don't care to be thought in favor of blue laws, and I don't want to say people shall not go to these places of amusement on Sunday. I favor a law prohibiting the portrayal of any crime. I have seen house burglary and murdering portrayed in our shows here and I think they should be prohibited."

Trustee McNaught said he saw no way of passing the rule unless it also applied to the opera house.

"Are you going to appoint a censor?" asked Thompson.

"Pass the law and stop it by prosecution," said Harris. Harris moved that the city attorney be instructed to draft an ordinance prohibiting the showing of any prize fight pictures, Johnson-Jeffries or otherwise.

Rev. Seecombe said it was a matter of good citizenship training. The shows are educational and the pictures of crime lead juveniles astray. As to closing the poolrooms and shows on Sundays, he said the safeguarding the Sabbath demands the removing of places that are boisterous and that lead away from good citizenship. The Church Federation is working not for blue laws but for what is for the best good.

Chairman McFadden said he wanted to include in the prohibition all pictures of crime. Harris then included those pictures in his motion.

The city attorney said he wanted to have the trustees say which crimes they want to put the ban on as there are 2000 crimes named in the penal code.

Harris suggested murder, hold-ups, burglaries, prize-fights. McFadden thought it well to put in a clause covering all crimes. Rev. Seecombe thought Harris's plan would do well. The motion carried.

"What about the poolrooms?" asked McFadden. There was silence. "Any here to present the poolroom side of this matter?" asked McFadden. Again silence.

Blodgett: "Closing poolrooms will only drive our young men to some other places."

Harris: "It might have that tendency with some. With others it would keep in better places."

Blodgett: "There is no gambling and carousing in these poolrooms. You take places of pleasure from many of these young men and I think you will only be driving them to other places."

Harris: "I move the poolrooms be closed on Sundays and an ordinance be passed."

McNaught: "I shall have to vote against it. The men will not be legislated into being good. They will go to places more wide-open. Parents ought to know whether or not their children are in poolrooms."

Harris: "We have two or three poolrooms that are patronized by a nice class of men. There are other poolrooms that attract a very different crowd on Sundays. The law is meant for the greatest good. I am opposed to pool."

McNaught: "We have a law against minors being in these places."

Blodgett: "How do the poolrooms harm?"

Harris: "Patrons stand around on sidewalks and make it disagreeable for children and ladies."

Mrs. H. G. Dean said that the city marshal had said that the poolrooms bring in 250 Spaniards every Sunday.

One man present said that some of those going to poolrooms would go to church.

Thompson: "While closing one place of amusement we should close them all—poolroom, moving pictures and baseball."

Blodgett: "Croquet, too."

McNaught: "Going to the beaches, too."

McFadden: "It doesn't seem consistent to close a poolroom and not a baseball game and moving picture show. If anyone can see any difference we would like to hear from him."

Harris: "There is a different class of people."

Blodgett: "The same people go to the poolroom and the moving picture show."

McFadden: "It is hard to tell where to stop when we start in closing."

Blodgett: "It is a question of where we are going to drive the people to."

On roll call on Harris's motion there were four noes and one aye, Harris being aye.

Thompson: "I won't vote to segregate any amusement."

McFadden: "I would like to see all places closed on Sunday, but I don't believe in singling out one for action."

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, chronic, and lingering coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"Indigestion serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.
Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the nature and medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

nance and smoking in garages, report the only law needed to get the muffler on motorcycles is to pass the law.

The Los Angeles law on smoking in garages is operative on garage men only, meant to regulate them. There can be no garage under a rooming house. There are two such here—Lutz and the Cadillac. In the Wickersheim building on North Main the floor is wooden and with oil soaking in, the floor is very inflammable. The floors should be cement. Reid said he did not think it worth while passing an ordinance to prohibit smoking. It would be well to require sand to be kept at hand and prohibit keeping sawdust under automobiles.

The clerk read an ordinance requiring all motor vehicles, including motorcycles and automobiles, to have the engines muffled. The ordinance passed first reading.

An ordinance prohibiting masking on the streets was referred to the city attorney on first reading.

McNaught suggested that the city sign up for paving on Birch and Third at Birch Park at the best price possible. He said others on the streets are willing to pave.

No Right of Way

City Attorney Heathman, appointed to investigate the petition for straightening West Washington avenue, reported that the city has no right of way through the property of S. T. McNeill and Mrs. Marks, that the only way to get the street through is to form an assessment district. The entire opening could be done for $2000 or less.

One of the owners stated that there would be less objection if the city would allow a jog and go on the north edge of the places, as otherwise there would be a narrow strip between the street and the north edge.

Freeman stated he thought the records would show an old deed giving a right of way. Engineer Bates replied that there was no such deed.

The trustees decided to go in a body and view the proposed streets.

"Under that ordinance of ours we can't allow a jog," said one.

South Main Again

Street-Superintendent Ward said it was time to take up laying gutters on South Main street, which last winter was laid over to May 1.

Blodgett: "They haven't done anything there yet."

McNaught: "The street is a disgrace. The weeds are high. If they should be plowed, the storms would wash the dirt away."

McFadden: "It won't improve the street any just to put in curbs."

Blodgett: "Some of them say they will pave if they have to put in gutters."

On Blodgett's motion, the city attorney was instructed to take up the proceedings meant to order the work down under the Vrooman Act at the point left off last winter when the property owners all objected to doing the work.

The chairman was authorized to sign a contract for improving Vance and G. streets at French street park.

It is probable that the property owners will all join in the improvement. Engineer Bates said that the elder Heil had said he preferred putting in a better grade of work than that on French.

Harris: "It is ridiculous to expect property owners that far out to put in such paving as we have on Main street."

A curb was ordered in on the west side of French street between Third and Fourth.

Bates stated that Halladay had not yet put in his sidewalk on Chestnut avenue. Heathman said he understood that the city had entered into some agreement with Halladay. The trustees said they had only said it would not be necessary to lay the curb immediately, and had expected that Halladay would go ahead with the work. The city attorney was instructed to go ahead with the Vrooman Act, and carry it straight through without further parley.

The city clerk was ordered to advertise for bids for a steam or gasoline roller. Ward said the one being used on French street is gasoline and costs $2100.

NO SUBTERFUGE

The corporation papers are now playing on this string: That the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican league is the only complete organization in side of a political party under a name separate from that of the party. If this were so there could be no objection to it, so it announced its party affiliations and did not sail under false colors. If, however, it maintained a secret organization in both parties under the names of each, and in this way conspired to place its tools in office by fraud and deception, it would be a political crime that should forever condemn it as an enemy of the state.

Now this is just the kind of an organization the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican league was organized to fight. It contains the name "Republican" as designating its party affiliations, and the names of Lincoln and Roosevelt as indicating the particular brand of Republicanism to which it aspires. Could anything be more open and fair and less liable to objection? Besides this, it publishes abroad its cardinal principles and gives them the largest publicity it can. It has perfected its organization for the purpose of carrying out its intention of ridding the G. O. P. of the incubus of railroad dictation and domination. On the other hand the railroad is organized with a regular political bureau under the name of "Republican," whereas, if it had the candor of the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican league, it would openly bid itself the "Southern Pacific Conspiracy for the Control of All Parties," for that is just what it is. It is this conspiracy that the L.-R.R.L. is fighting, with Johnson as its standard bearer.

It is organized and well organized in practically every precinct in the state. It has put forward one of the best men that ever lived on this coast, and he is going to be governor, and when he is, California will come into her own at last and cease to be a byword among her sister states. The only thing that California needs is deliverance from the above "S. P. C. for the Control of All Parties" and she is going to get it through the L.-R. R. L. and Hiram Johnson.

THE CANARD PERIOD

It is getting about time to begin to look out for "whoppers" in the campaign that is now going on. It is but natural for them to increase in volume and size as the day of fate draws nigh. As a matter of fact they are being turned loose right now. The various anti-Johnson headquarters have evidently been saving them up for some time, and in order to get them off of hands before August 16th, are sending them out earlier than usual.

One of them relates to Johnson and Stanton. You see Stanton has been posing as a Roosevelt Republican and has "pointed with pride" to the latter's indorsement of his attitude while speaker in the last assembly on the anti-Japanese question. Roosevelt appealed to him at that time to use his power as speaker against legislation which he regarded as liable to disturb the friendly relations existing between the United States and Japan. With this request Stanton complied, and, of course, received the thanks of the president for his services. But the indorsement went no further than that, and has not the least bearing on the questions now disturbing the people of this state. Nevertheless Stanton has worked it to a frazzle in his campaign in an effort to carry the idea that he had Roosevelt's indorsement. On the other hand the friends of Hiram Johnson induced Roosevelt's friend, Pinchot, to make some speeches for the L.-R. Republican league and incidentally for Johnson, with the supposed motive of convincing the voters that Roosevelt was favorable to the league and Johnson's candidacy. Roosevelt's attention being called to the situation, he issues a statement to the effect that he is taking no part in the canvass in California nor in any other state, whereupon both sides come out in scare-heads announcing that Roosevelt refuses his indorsement of the other.

So far both are telling the truth, the anti-Johnson papers, however, are not content with this, but in big headlines inform us that "Theodore Roosevelt exposes Stimson-Earl-Pinchot 'Fake, Etc.', thus implying that the strenuous ex-president has taken the field against the Lincoln-Roosevelt crowd. No doubt but he, as a matter of fact, is with Johnson and his following, but, as he says, if he should take part in one such campaign he would have to take part in hundreds. And so there you are. It's neither an indorsement nor an "exposure" of anybody, but as to what he may have said to Stanton's brother when he called to enlist him in the ex-speaker's candidacy, no one but Stanton knows, and he won't tell.

Los Angeles labor organizations are circulating petitions favoring a "wet and dry" election. Well, if all the workmen in the southern metropolis line up in battle array against the booze business, John Barleycorn will find that he is due to encounter his Waterloo.

With all its danger signals out and its political conductors frantically trying to avert it, the S. P. "machine" is scheduled for complete wrecking August 16th.

Highwaymen have been known to wait in ambush for intended victims, and the fellow with the tampered scales may also be said to lie in wait, too.

If you really want to enjoy your summer vacation, come to Orange County. Nothing like it on the coast for safe, sane and satisfactory enjoyment.

One glance at the sample ballot for the coming primary election certainly makes it look like the open season for the candidates.

ORGANIZATION SUPPORT FINALLY GOES TO CURRY

"Literature" were to be distributed in the central and northern counties. He has blazoned the bill boards and street cars with cards, advertising the claim that if he becomes governor he will see that taxes are lowered in Southern California and increased in the rest of the state. He promises a re-districting of the equalization districts in a manner that will give Southern California a majority of the state equalizers, and that the action of two years ago, when Southern California assessments were raised, will be reversed.

Farmer With Stanton.
Bert Farmer, candidate for lieutenant governor, who has lost the "steward" support, is making his fight in common with Stanton.

"Vote a straight Southern California ticket. Vote to compel central and northern California to bear its just burden of taxation. Stanton and Farmer will lower your assessments 100 per cent if elected. Votes for Stanton and Farmer means dollars in your pockets. Be loyal to your section of the state."

This is the argument that is being put before the eyes and dinned into the ears of the citizens of Los Angeles and adjoining counties by every conceivable method known to political boosters. Consequently, every visitor from up-state counties returns home eager to get out his hammer for the "straight Southern California ticket."

Stanton and Huntington.
The assertion made several weeks ago that Henry E. Huntington, the traction magnate, was financing the Stanton campaign is being borne out. Huntington has given Stanton a mon-

Ferris With Curry.
Charles F. Curry has not profited to the extent he expected by effecting a combination with "Dick" Ferris, the mining and oil operator, who is making the race for lieutenant governor. Ferris' following is largely personal and sectional, and many of his strongest supporters are enthusiastic Johnson adherents on the governorship. Curry's hope that Ferris would pull him through with a plurality over Johnson in the southern counties will come far from being realized.

Courtesies For Candidates.

Among the pleasant feature of their visit to Santa Ana, nothing will be recalled more happily by the Lincoln-Roosevelt League Candidates than the delightful social courtesies extended them during their stay here.

The gentlemen of the party are Hiram W. Johnson, candidate for governor, A. J. Wallace, for lieutenant governor, John M. Eshleman for railroad Commissioner and Allison Ware for Superintendent of Public Instruction. JURY TOOK FATE OF SKELLY INTO ITS HANDS tones. They ask you to hang Frank Skelly on suspicion.

"Think of a man attempting to murder his wife the very night he had a lodger upstairs. It happened at the very time when such an accident would happen—getting breakfast. Everything points to a horrible accident and nothing more.

"Cavanah tells about the stove burning high. He turned off the burners. Then came Shamrock and he threw water on the stove. It impressed both men that the stove was the central point of danger.

"It may be that Mrs. Skelly at first was careful, but as she got used to gasoline she probably became careless. You know gasoline is as deadly as dynamite.

"The prosecution does not dwell long on some of his acts. If he were guilty, he would be a fiend. But see what he does. He dives into the fire as the woman was on the ground. To my mind, no man seeking to murder his wife would have done as he did.

"There is no dying statement. They all knew she was going to die. Why didn't they get one? I believe that had one been taken it would have been favorable to Skelly.

Williams cited the instance of Mrs. Agular of Los Angeles years ago, who gave a dying statement that her husband threw gasoline upon her. Later it was proven that her husband with four Americans was at Anaheim twenty-five miles away. He told of an instance of a child falling into a tub of hot water and not thinking her mother did it.

"If innocent you wouldn't shout 'I didn't do it.' Such a course would only excite her. His conduct was right.

"No better testimony than Mrs. Frost's. The district attorney knew that testimony back in May. If they had allowed it to have been given at the preliminary I don't believe Skelly would have been held to answer.

"Mr. Fleming tried to make capital of the answer 'she suited me all right.' That was given as an answer as to her housework. They say he appears sullen. Put yourself in his place. Suppose your wife were burned, you were burned, you were in jail without bail, you were on trial for your life. His actions have been consistent throughout. His testimony was given honestly and fairly."

Bishop's Address

This morning at 9 o'clock Attorney Bishop closed for the defense.

"We are here," he said, "to decide the question of a human life. I want you to consider the question as you would were some unfortunate circumstances to cast the shadow of the gallows upon you. Consider this man's children whose lives are wrapped up in this hour. Consider this poor gray haired mother who has stood nobly by her son.

"Weep not, Mrs. Bradley, look up and smile, for I feel sure this jury will give your son to you, for I feel it believes him guiltless of this crime," said Bishop turning to the woman who sat beside Skelly convulsed in sobs.

"We find him here, a man of good standing and the finger of shame never pointed at him. Of all the witnesses, not one told of anything but happiness in that home.

"It was unfair for the prosecution to intimate that Witness Wallace held back from you any words he may have heard on that night before Mrs. Skelly was burned.

"Jealousy? You know that when men are jealous they strike when the blood is hot. They do not wait over night.

"No man commits a crime unless there is reason for it. No man would destroy any person for dollars unless he needed money. They had Gans, his bookkeeper, on the stand and if Skelly needed money he would have known it and would have been glad to testify to it.

"You will remember that Mrs. Skelly rushed out the screen door. That brings me to the second unfair act of the prosecution. When that map was introduced it showed the door swinging inward. That door swung outward and from it Mrs. Skelly burst.

"She ran like a wild person. Within thirty seconds from the time she broke from that door Cavanah saw Skelly bending over her beating out the flames with his bare hands.

"A woman would naturally carry that jar in her right hand. The jar caught fire, and she threw it. Where would she throw it as she stood in front of that stove. It would have to go straight toward that pantry door.

"There was fire on her bosom. If Skelly threw gasoline at her and it went past her, it would have gone higher on that wall. It could not have gone so low on that pantry wall.

"Suddenly all aflame, she turned. Skelly threw his arms around her and tried to hold her. Is it any wonder in her terrible state she thought

Y.M.C.A. BOYS GO TO CATALINA

Forty-two From Orange County Join in Annual Camp With San Berdoo

A jolly crowd of forty-two boys left Orange County this morning in charge of County Y. M. C. A. Secretary S. W. Douglas, bound for a two weeks outing at Camp Wilson, Catalina Island.

The camp at Catalina is now a well established affair being open for a month each summer. The boys go in two sections, the younger boys from Aug. 2 to 17, the older boys from Aug. 17 to 30.

The camp this year will be larger than even before. San Bernardino County and Orange County occupy Camp Wilson together and this year there are to be one hundred present including the camp's leader.

Secretary Gaines of San Bernardino County and Secretary Douglas of Orange County are in charge of the camp and they have, working under them, an efficient corps of leaders. The boys will be divided into groups, a small bunch for each tent and will have a leader in charge of each group.

Regular camp routine is followed out in many ways but the boys are given as much liberty and freedom as is possible.

Eight Santa Ana boys were in the crowd which left this morning on the 7:40 electric for San Pedro. One Santa Ana boy, Malcolm Tedford is already at Catalina as a leader. The Santa Ana boys are: Jack Tedford, Harold Scott, Guy Graser, Carson Smith, Harry Hossler, Norman Page, Cyril Parker and Donald Stevenson.

TUFFREE DEAD FROM A FALL

Man Who Jumped From Hospital Window Succumbed to His Injuries

FULLERTON, Aug. 1.—Charles Tuffree, who overpowered his nurse at the Fullerton hospital yesterday afternoon and leaped from a second-story window, died of his injuries last night. Mr. Tuffree was brought to the hospital several days ago for an operation for appendicitis, and was evidently delirious from intense pain when he committed the act.

Mr. Tuffree, who is a well-known orange grower of Placentia, is a son of the late Col. J. K. Tuffree. His age was 38, and he was a native of California. He was unmarried. The funeral will be held at the Episcopal church in Anaheim tomorrow morning. The interment will be there.

Credit to Valencia

Seventeen cars of oranges were sent from here by local shippers last week. Reports from the eastern markets give Fullerton Valencia credit for commanding some of the banner prices of the week, and local buyers are paying top-notch prices for their fruit.

The Olinda Land Company is now down 2660 feet on well No. 5, which is in light oil territory adjoining the Puente property in the Olinda section, and about a mile from its other wells which are producing a heavy oil. The well is an old one and was abandoned at a depth of 2000 feet after being ruined by careless workmen. It will now be drilled through to the bottom of the oil stratum in the endeavor to locate an extensive deposit of light oil. If this is found the company will have two fields, one giving a very low gravity fuel oil ranking with the best for that purpose, and the other giving an extremely light oil.

—There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

OBJECTIONS ARE FILED

Newport Beach Again Makes Known Its Opposition to Outfall Sewer Plan

The Newport Beach City Trustees and Chamber of Commerce have filed objections with the United States Engineer's office in Los Angeles to the amended application of the City of Santa Ana for a permit to dump its sewage in Newport Bay. The Chamber of Commerce has filed the following: To the Hon. Jacob M. Dickinson, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.

Application having been made by the City of Santa Ana, Cal., for permission to construct a sewer pipe line along the western shore of Newport bay, Orange County, California, emptying into Newport bay at the "Narrows."

We, the Newport Beach Chamber of Commerce hereby submit the following remonstrance and objection:

FIRST—The emptying of sewage into Newport bay is in direct contravention of Section 13 of an act of Congress approved March 3rd, 1899, being a portion of the Rivers and Harbors bill, unless passed through septic tanks of sufficient capacity to properly septicise the entire volume of sewage from said city of Santa Ana. We have no assurance that the city of Santa Ana will construct a septic system of sufficient size or capacity to properly care for its sewage. It is a matter of common knowledge that the present septic tank system of the City of Santa Ana is not now nor has it been for the past three years an adequate septic system. Further in the application made no mention is made of a system of filtration whereby such substances as particles of wood and paper, etc., upon which the microbes do not act can be separated from the volume of sewage and they will consequently be deposited in the waters of Newport bay and will have a tendency to fill up and ultimately cut off the upper portion of Newport bay and therefore reduce the tidal prism and said bay or bars will further be a menace to and endanger navigation through said Narrows and will prevent craft from passing through said Narrows, to the upper portion of said bay lying above and beyond said Narrows.

SECOND—That the City of Santa Ana is a municipal corporation having today a population of about 10,000 and is rapidly increasing in size. The City of Newport Beach is a municipal corporation lying ten miles from Santa Ana and having a population of about 4000 inhabitants. Both cities lie within the County of Orange and a large portion of the waters of said bay are now a part of the City of Newport Beach. A special election has been called by the trustees of Newport Beach for the purpose of annexing to the City of Newport Beach the balance of the waters of Newport bay. The prosperity of the city is dependent on the fact that the still waters of the bay attract innumerable craft and at the present time said craft are practically used for pleasure only. If said waters are navigable for pleasure purposes at present they are navigable in fact and the dumping of sewage into the bay whether septicised or not will restrict the use of the water of Newport bay for pleasure craft as well as for pleasure purposes in the line of bathing and swimming.

THIRD—That the sediment from the sewage after having been deposited in the waters of Newport bay will be deposited on the bottom of said bay and upon and along the shores thereof and the solid matter thus accumulating will fill up said Narrows very rapidly and thus endanger and be a menace to navigation through said Narrows and also ultimately cut off the upper portion of said Newport bay. This is more evident for the reason that the waters at said Narrows is both narrow and shallow and is about five miles inland from the inlet or mouth of said bay and will not be kept clean by the tides of the Pacific ocean.

Therefore, we, the Newport Beach Chamber of Commerce respectfully ask that the application be denied.

—If you want to join the C. R. Trickey Rental Club without an advance payment get your application in before August 1, 1910. 75c per month is surely cheap enough. Why hesitate? Phone 430, or leave address at Trickey's grocery.

Dr. H. M. Robertson, Physician and Surgeon, Office Cor. 3rd and Main, opposite City Hall. Both Phones.

HINRICHS IS IN HOSPITAL

Orange Boy Pitching With Washington Has Met With Hard Luck Streak

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—William Hinrichs, pitcher of the Washington ball team, who lives at Orange, Cal., is a patient in the hospital here suffering from infantile paralysis, a disease which rarely attacks adults.

Numerous cases of infantile paralysis have been reported here among children recently and three cases were discovered today. Hinrichs, who is 21 years old, went to the hospital five days ago for treatment for his arm, which appeared paralyzed. Today Dr. S. Clifford Cox declared the young man would not be able to play ball again this season.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The grape season in the local growing districts is on in full swing. Muscats, Malvasai and Black Hamburgs are coming in, with some of the other varieties ripening rapidly and ready for market before the end of the week. Muscats form a good basis of supply. They are the best stock received on the market up to this time, and by the lug box sold for $1.75 yesterday. Black Hamburgs brought $1.50 and Malvasai $1.25. Seedless Sultanias were down to $1.25. While the grape supply is on the increase, plums are rapidly going out. Advances in most varieties were posted. Satsumas are bringing $1.00 per box on anything like good fruit. Damsons are up to $1.00 and Kelseys are bringing 85 cents. French prunes are also worth 75 cents. Clingstone peaches opened at $1.00 and dropped to 90 cents. Freestone sold at 75 cents. A few pears are going into storage, but other fruit is still being held out, it being too early for winter storage.

Staples were steady. Egg receipts were 152 cases. Offerings were light, there being few cases in the hands of any one dealer, which precluded the possibility of jobbing sales. A few eastern eggs were sold.

Butter arrivals were 17,248 pounds. As high as 34 cents was asked for creamery extra stock. Sales were of a normal character. Some coast butter found sales on the street.

Cheese offerings were numerous, but there was no great call for any but northern fresh and Limburger. Prices on cheese in the north are unchanged and northern cheese here is off half a cent in range of quotation. Receipts were 4860 pounds.

Potato arrivals were 2383 sacks. Highlands sold in a jobbing way at $1.40. Locals were unchanged. Sweets were down to 3 cents and in large quantities they even undersold that figure. Reported arrivals were 56 sacks.

Cantaloupes were down again, the best price obtainable being $2.00 per crate. The first Christmas cantaloupes were brought in and sold at $1.75 per standard crate. Local water-melons are up to 1 cent a pound. They are selling preference to any of the imported stock which frequently is badly burned from over exposure to sun. The first pippin apples of the year were received. They came from Sebastopol and sold at $1.75 per box.

A change in the price of linseed oil was reported, raw going to $1.03 and boiled to $1.05 in barrels. Turpentine also changed, the high price being 95 cents in case and 88 cents in cans.

JURY TOOK FATE OF SKELLY INTO ITS HANDS

Skelly was trying to harm her? Then when she fell outside she saw Skelly's face above her. Crazed as she was, the first object she saw in her terror and her pain met with her accusation.

"In the same breath that she cried 'Frank murdered me' she said 'Oh, doctor, cut my head off.' Are those the expressions of a crazed person?" "Would a criminal fight fire to save the one he would murder? Every witness testifies that Skelly did all he could. Though his hands were burned, he used them to put water and oil upon the wife, never a thought for himself.

"The guilty man is the coward. The coward would have cried out, seeking to show his innocence. 'I am not guilty.' But Skelly was innocent. Would you have stood around and disputed with this crazed woman? No. 'If a man were planning to murder his wife, would he select the night when another was staying there?' 'I paid Frost's fare from Oregon. I'd do it again. I'd pay his fare around this globe if it were necessary to get him here. It was unfair for the prosecution to insinuate against him.

"Let me point to another unfair thing. Mrs. Frost said she was told by Mrs. Skelly it happened while filling the gasoline stove while it was lit. We satisfactorily established the fact that Mrs. Skelly used a glass jar to fill the tank. Mrs. Frost said she told the district attorney that Mrs. Skelly said it happened while filling the tank. It is as much the duty of the district attorney to protect the innocent as to prosecute the guilty. She thought he had a right to tell her to keep her knowledge quiet. I went to her and she told me what she knew, and she told me what her son knew and I sent for him."

Bishop showed the jury the top of the broken jar and the rubber burned. He called attention to the fact that blistered paint showed fire to have been all over and above the stove. "I ask you, do you think this evidence sufficient to send this man to the gallows? Be certain that when you hear that Skelly is hung that you know you did the right thing. "There is no middle ground in this case. If he is not guilty he should be sent back to care for his gray-haired mother and to raise his children."

At this point Mrs. Bradley broke into convulsive sobs, and threw herself into Skelly's arms. He tried to comfort her, but it was nearly a minute before she quieted.

"The prosecution has asked you to decide this case aside from sympathy. Thank God, the time has not yet come when men are made of stone. Sympathy is the grandest of human attributes."

Closing Argument

District Attorney Davis closed. "I believe we have conducted this case without venom and unfairness," he said. "I am here to bring to you the facts in the case. I approach this case with a certain difficulty, for I knew Skelly very well and very favorably. It is my duty to prosecute all cases without favor and without unfairness. At first it was hardly possible for me to believe Mr. Skelly guilty, but I was forced to the conclusion by the logic of the case and the circumstances that he did murder his wife.

"Mr. Bishop spent many moments in directing your sympathies in this case. You know that sympathy for the defendant and for anyone in it is foreign to this case.

"As to that map, we disclaim any unfairness. The county surveyor made the map, and we said if it wasn't right to make it right.

"The defense made a great point of the fact that Skelly did all he could for his wife. He had to change his actions to suit the conditions, that is all. His plans went askew and when the woman rushed out he had to change his actions.

"That night was the crisis of a thing I believe Skelly had been thinking of a long time. The defense says he wouldn't want to burn Gans and the children. He could easily have called Gans and himself taken the children out the front door.

"Take this witness Earl Frost. He swore he told no living person what he knew until he arrived here, until after his way was paid here. I submit to you that it is not unfair to say there is absolutely no truth in that witness. Frost had to deliver the goods when he arrived here, and he wouldn't deliver them until he had sent his father to the bank and knew the money was there. There are clubs to which this witness could be admitted, and he would not be far down the list. (Ananias club).

"The defense states we used unfair means in regard to Mrs. Frost. It is not in evidence what was said to her by the district attorney's office, only what she construed was said. I defy any man to find anything in my office to show any unfairness.

"The argument of the defense simmered down is that Skelly couldn't do it, he is too good a man. They ask us why we did not produce the woman's dying statement when they know that the first word our office knew of suspicions was on the third day after she was dead.

"I believe Skelly got up that morning with the fixed intention to murder her. I believe he forced her into that northeast corner and poured gasoline upon her and lit the torch that was to consume her, intending to shut that door to leave her in horrible anguish to a horrible death.

"The witness Cavanah said the tank was found on the stove. It is impossible to fill the tank while it was on the stove. The reasonable way in which to fill that tank is to take it to the big can and there fill it. Do you think she would take that jar and make four trips to fill it? Skelly says he heard no puff and saw no flash from the kitchen. I say that it was impossible for him not to have heard and seen. The idea of accidental explosion is far from explaining the situation.

"Patterson says he found the tank off the stove. How did it get off? I believe by the hands of this defendant. He had to fix something up to make it look as though it had happened accidentally."

BIG SLUMP OF TWO MILLIONS GOLD IN FAIRBANK'S OUTPUT

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 2.—The gold output of the Fairbanks district during July is under one million dollars. It is estimated the season's output will be less than six millions. Last year the output was nearly eight millions. The slump is the result of a severe drouth, making a water shortage for sluicing.
